Allentown Public Library

Neighborhood Walking Tour

The Library Area Neighborhood Association will meet Saturday, June 25, 10:00 am starting from the Allentown Public Library.

Our own Frank Whelan, Allentown's historian, will take us on a tour of Allentown's Millionaires Row along Hamilton St.

"From 1895 to 1920 28 homes were built along Hamilton Street by wealthy Allentown residents giving it the nickname Millionaire's Row. Some of them have since then vanished under the wrecker's ball, others have been the victims of time and neglect. Yet a few have survived to show how grand they once were. On June 25 we will take a look back at some of those homes and the unique personalities who occupied them."

Don't forget to visit the West Park Arts in the Park, Saturday June 18, 10 am to 5 pm. Free!

New & Improved Recycling

Mixed "Single Stream" recycling on June 5.

Single stream recycling allows customers to mix all recyclables in either their green or blue bin. Cans, bottles, paper and cardboard that used to be separated into the green and blue bin can now be mixed together, making it easier than ever!

Under the new contract with Waste Management, the hauler will collect all the recyclables in the same truck, saving taxpayers money. The city estimates it will recycle approximately 6,800 tons of material this year.

What should I know?

Acceptable recyclables include milk cartons, aluminum foil, magazines, newspapers, phone books, file folders and paperback books.

Do not place recycling bins or trash cans in the street; they should be placed on the sidewalk

Follow these guidelines. Putting non-recyclable items in the bins causes contamination problems and added processing expenses.

- No trash or food waste
- No plastic bags
- No foam cups or foam containers
- No ceramics
- Lightly rinse recyclable materials.

In the coming weeks, residents will receive a postcard magnet from the City further explaining what should and shouldn't be placed in either bin for collection.

Please continue to use your blue and green bins. The city only replaces bins that are broken and unusable.

For more information please the Recycling Bureau website at www.allentownpa.gov/recycle.
